The PTE is used by universities, colleges, and governments around the world to measure the English language skills of applicants. The PTE is a computer-based test that consists of four sections: Speaking, Writing, Reading, and Listening.

The Vocabulary in Context section tests your ability to understand the meaning of words in context. You will be given a passage of text and asked to choose the correct meaning of a word from a list of four options. The options will be synonyms of the word in the text.
